The Council have no objections in principle, but feel that the neighbouring brownfield site should be developed first. Concerns were raised about the lack of services (doctors, dentist) and public transport, and the affect this would have on the existing services, and the already congested road system, especially the double roundabouts at the junction with the A165 and the B1255. Further congestion on the local roads could lead to drivers taking back roads around the town, and also affect tourist as they queue to enter the town.
